Bio:

Jed Seidl

Jed Seidl is the Sauk County Emergency Management Director and Director of Emergency Management at Delton Fire Department. Jed is a military veteran, retired Police Officer, and Emergency Management Coordinator before becoming Director. Jed's current position requires public and private sector threat and vulnerability assessment and mitigating identified hazards through training and exercises. Active Threat Training is currently one of the most requested by his office. In this program, you will learn basic concepts to effectively respond to and overcome an active threat in your work environment. Through discussion and low-level practical exercises, you will discover that these principles are effective in any environment.
